With a razor-sharp mind and a deep sense of empathy, Serrailer unravels the most intricate cases, exposing the darkness that lurks beneath the surface of society. Yet, as he relentlessly pursues justice, he must confront his own demons and grapple with the moral ambiguities that plague his profession.

A City of Secrets

The trilogy is set in Lafferton, a picturesque English city with a sinister underbelly. From the affluent streets to the shadowy slums, Serrailer uncovers a web of secrets, corruption, and long-held grudges.

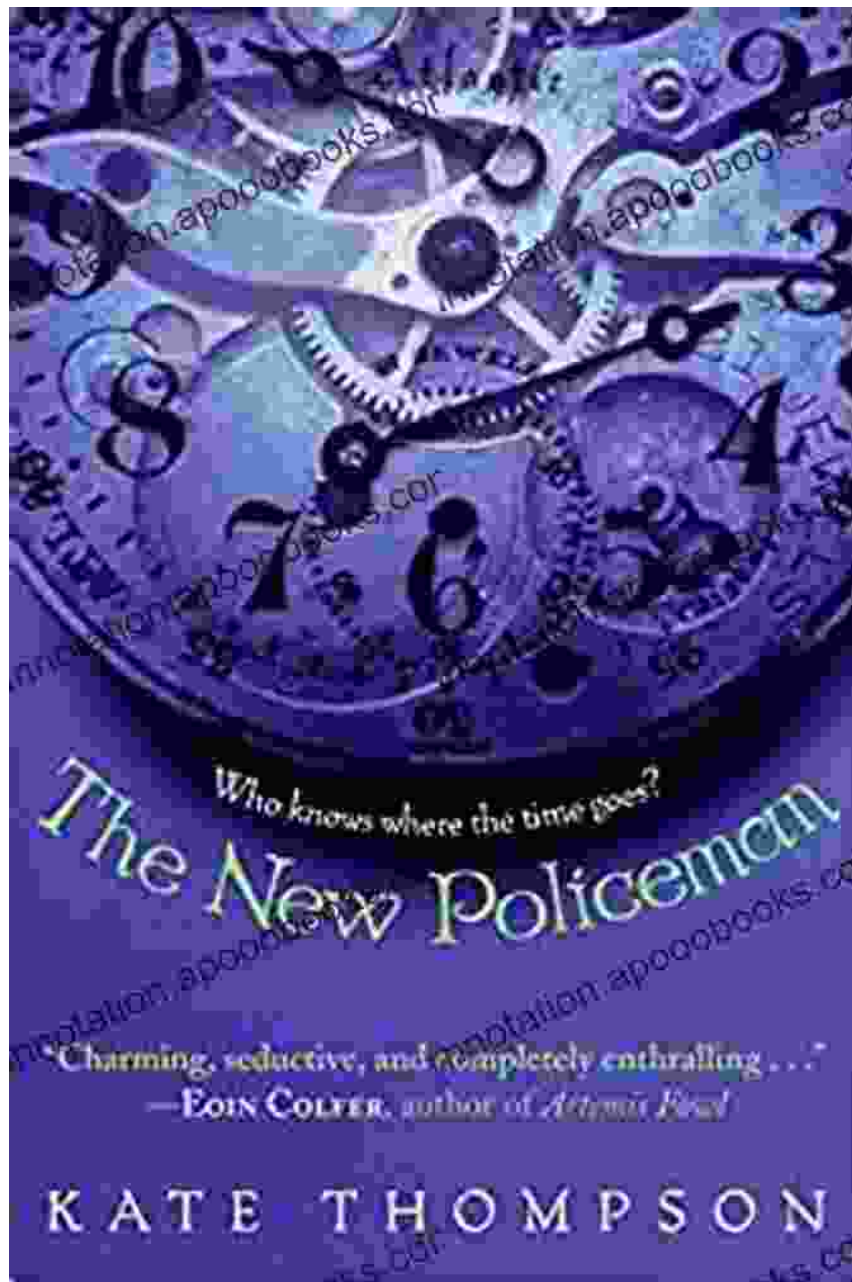

As he investigates a series of seemingly unrelated crimes, Serrailer soon realizes that the city is a breeding ground for violence, lies, and betrayal. The lines between right and wrong blur, and Serrailer must navigate a dangerous path while questioning his own beliefs and loyalties.

A Trilogy of Suspense and Insight

The New Policeman New Policeman Trilogy is a masterful blend of crime fiction and psychological drama. Susan Hill, the acclaimed author of the trilogy, masterfully weaves together suspenseful plots with profound insights into the human psyche.

Each book in the trilogy stands as a gripping tale in its own right, while also contributing to a larger narrative that explores the nature of justice, revenge, and redemption. Hill's evocative prose and nuanced characterization create a world that lingers in the reader's mind long after the final page is turned.

Unveiling the Trilogy

The New Policeman New Policeman Trilogy consists of three standalone novels that follow Detective Inspector Simon Serrailer as he investigates a series of complex cases:

- The New Policeman (1990): Introduces Serrailer and the dark secrets of Lafferton.
- A Change at the Bell (1991): Explores the themes of guilt, betrayal, and the consequences of sin.
- The Other Side of the Silence (2014): Delves into the depths of human obsession and the search for redemption.
