But Motorcycle was determined to change his life. He turned his back on crime and began working as a mechanic. He also started riding motorcycles, and it was this that eventually led him to a life of redemption. Motorcycle became a professional motorcycle racer, and he used his platform to speak out against violence and poverty. He also started a foundation to help young people who were at risk of being drawn into a life of crime.

Dodging Bullets is a powerful story of hope and redemption. It is a story that will inspire you to believe that anything is possible, no matter what your circumstances may be.

Excerpt from Dodging Bullets

"I was born into a poor family in the slums of Johannesburg, South Africa. My father was a drunkard, and my mother worked two jobs to support us. I was the oldest of four children, and I had to help out around the house from a young age. I started selling drugs when I was 12 years old. By the time I was 15, I was a full-blown gangster. I had been shot twice and had spent time in prison. But I was determined to change my life. I turned my back on crime and began working as a mechanic. I also started riding motorcycles, and it was this that eventually led me to a life of redemption."
